

ImageDownloader

Write a program that downloads images from the specified URL, saves the images locally and rotates the images by 90 degrees. All operations should be asynchronous. The program should allow to do these operations on a set of URLs.

HttpClient class can be used for downloading images from a given URL.

FileStream class can be used for writing bytes to a file (.jpg, or .png).

Bitmap (System.Drawing), Image classes can be used for working with images – reading, rotating, saving an image, etc.

Deadline: January 30, 2020, 23:59.